ABSTRACT: The "personality" is the typical pattern of thinking, feeling, and behaviors that make a person unique. When we say that someone has a "good personality" we mean that they are likeable, interesting and pleasant to be with. Many have heard the old proverb “beauty is in the eye of the beholder” and how true these words are. One may see a person and find them attractive, while another sees nothing attractive in that particular person. Outer and inner beauty plays a major role in life, which leads to the fulfillment each one seeks. Both are needed but if one is magnified than the other, discrimination from others will be a problem. Whether it’s from looks or the beauty that lies within, it will be seen and sensed. Beauty is an asset to life which is needed, and both inner and outer are important. Being able to balance them both will enhance opportunities that will attribute to each one’s uniqueness and goals. Inner beauty by itself cannot always stand alone, just like outer beauty can’t as well, but it will always outshine outer beauty in the long run. Knowing the characteristics, how they attract others, and the healthy choices that are made are

There are many characteristics to beauty, and both inner and outer play a role in what matters. As perceived, beauty depends on the one looking in, on what they think is beautiful. Inner beauty relates to one’s personality traits, habits, or even sense of humor. A person who has inner beauty is caring, understanding, helps when help is needed, and believes when all fail to believe. Standing up for what is just, and defending those who have no defender is a rare but powerful characteristic found in the hearts of those who possess inner beauty. However, outer beauty defines the elegance, features, figure, or complexion of one. But when it stands alone, outer beauty is nothing but selfish, greedy, and arrogant pride, mixed with good looks. A person may acquire physical traits of beauty, and have all the features and figure that come in the package, but if they have it alone one, action could cast all...

The focus here is to prove the :-

“Inner beauty shouldn’t be ignored, but I don’t think we’ll ever ignore outer beauty.”
